Plans on track for supermarket to open December

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

TESCO says it has reached the halfway point of its infill operation in Seaton.

As previously reported in Pulman's View, Tesco has been raising the site of its planned new supermarket close to Harbour Road. The infill has been transferred from the seabed and delivered to the construction site via a pipeline.

The infill operation started on Tuesday, March 29th. However, the operation was delayed after noise emissions from the pipeline reached higher than expected levels and residents living close to the site complained. Following the complaints Tesco agreed to stop using its pipeline overnight.

The noise issues have since been resolved and Juliette Bishop, regional corporate affairs manager for Tesco, said: "We are pleased that the pumping operation is progressing well. The material, dredged from off south Wales, is coming through the pipeline in approximately two hours and using this method has meant that a significant number of vehicle movements have been taken off local roads.

"Over 500 local residents and businesses have now visited the viewing platform and seen the work that has been taking place, we hope that in the remaining weeks of pumping, residents take the opportunity to see how the work on site is progressing."

A Tesco spokesman added: "Over half of the material needed to raise the level of the land has been brought into the site via the pipeline, with only 11 loads remaining to be delivered. Of these remaining deliveries four or five are expected to come at night, with the other six or seven coming during the day time."

The infill operation is set to be complete by the end of April. Once the site has been filled the infill will be left to settle before construction on the supermarket begins.

The spokesman for Tesco added: "The importation of fill is expected to be complete around the end of April."

Tesco is hopeful that the store will be open in December.

■ PULMAN'S View* was invited on a tour of the site to see how construction is progressing. For pictures of the Tesco site see page 8

Request to be part of traffic plan granted

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@findlenews.co.uk

AXMOUTH is set to be included in the traffic management plan for Seaton.

As previously reported in Pulman's View, Axmouth Parish Council sent an email to councillor Stuart Hughes, Devon County Council (DCC) cabinet member for highways, following a village meeting on Wednesday, April 6th.

During the village meeting it was resolved that Axmouth Parish Council would ask Devon County Council if it could be included in the Traffic Management Plan for Seaton.

Councillor Hughes has responded to the parish council's request and said: "I can confirm that the county council will indeed be looking at the B3172 as part of the traffic management plan for Seaton."

Parish councillors have welcomed the news and Carol Rapley, chair of the parish council, said: "We look forward to working with DCC highways and our neighbouts on this project that is crucial to the future of Axmouth and the lower Axe Estuary."

Ian Thomas, district councillor for Axmouth, added: "Axmouth Parish Council and I are grateful to councillor Hughes for confirming that the Traffic Management Plan for Seaton has been extended to include the B3172. I assume, it will also include the remainder of the lower Axe Estuary, to ensure that a proper, realistic strategic plan is developed for the whole of the area?

"This is a pragmatic recognition of the reach of impact a large development of the scale of the Seaton regeneration can have on the wider infrastructure surrounding rural areas."

Lions share out twice

SEATON and District Lions Club has presented cheques to two local organisations.

The presentation took place at the Eyre Court Hotel, Seaton, and the donations were handed over to Gill Hamlet and Geoff Hunt, of Axe Vale Canoe Club, and Ann Gladstone, of Beer Tea Ladies, who have been raising funds for the Premature Baby Unit at Wonford Hospital, Exeter.

Health course for residents

HONITON residents who are living with a long-term health condition such as diabetes, asthma and arthritis will soon be able to benefit from a new course that is set to start at Honiton Hospital.

The course will be launched on Friday, May 13th, and will be held every Friday for six weeks from 2pm until 4.30pm.

The Expert Patient Programme is run by NHS Devon and is aimed at helping people develop their physical capability despite living with a health condition.

Trained tutors will lead the sessions which include relaxation techniques, dealing with tiredness and planning for the future.

Courses are free but the organisers say it is advisable to book in advance. Anyone who would like to attend the course should call 0800 073 0792 or email d-pc.EPP@nhs.net.

Jon's on a mission

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

A MOUNTAINEER from Axminster, who is battling cancer, is out to raise awareness and sponsorship.

Jon Piper, 42, was diagnosed with lung cancer in July 2009 and is undergoing treatment.

But he is also on a mission to climb Mont Blanc in late summer or early autumn to raise money for The Roy Castle Lung Cancer Foundation.

He said: "Having always been a keen hill-walker I'm attempting to climb Mont Blanc, raising funds for the foundation for which I am an advocate.

"I'm raising public awareness of lung cancer symptoms, the government's lack of research funding and I'm trying to change the public's perceptions of lung cancer - that you have to be a smoker, drinker and generally unfit to get it.

"It is just not true. I was 40, fit, hardly drunk and had never smoked heavily."

As part of the fundraising effort, Jon and his family are staging a table top sale and coffee morning in The Mariners' Hall, Beer, on Saturday, April 23rd from 9.30am-12.30pm.

Jon said: "All proceeds will be going towards my fundraising appeal, which is currently standing at just under £1,300 of my £2,500 target."

The event will include a best decorated egg competition for children, one class for those aged up to five and another class for those aged 6 to 11.

There will also be a tombola and raffle, with generous prizes donated by local businesses to be won.

Jon said that early detection is important when fighting lungcancer.

He explained that the symptoms people should look out for are:

◆ NAOMI Hughes (Jon's partner) and Jon Piper at Scottish mountain An Teallach

•A cough that doesn't go away after two to three weeks
•Worsening or change of a long-standing cough
•Persistent chest infections
•Coughing blood
•Unexplained persistent breathlessness
•Unexplained persistent tiredness or lack of energy
•Unexplained persistent weight loss
•Persistent chest and / or shoulder pain

More information about lung cancer awareness and Jon's Mont Blanc challenge are available at the following websites www.roycastle.org and www.macmillan.org.uk/Cancerinformation/Cancertypes/Lung/Lungcancer.aspxjustgiving.com/JonathanCPiper.

Sellers' tables for the Beer event are available at £5 each.

Crews called to house fire

FIRE crews from Honiton were called to reports of a house fire at Church Hill, Honiton, on Wednesday last.

The incident took place just after 6.30pm and a crew from Ottery St Mary also attended the scene.

Ninety per cent of the kitchen was damaged by smoke, ten per cent of the house was damaged by the fire and 30 per cent of the roof space was also damaged by the fire.

The crews used two hose reels, one main jet and six breathing apparatus to extinguish the flames.

Timber taken

A QUANTITY of timber has been stolen from the front lawn of a property in St Andrew's Drive area of Axminster.

The timber had an estimated value of £100, and the theft took place at some point between 6pm on Thursday, April 14th and 8am the following day.

Anyone who may have seen or heard something suspicious in the area at the time is asked to call 08452 777 444 and ask for Axminster police. The crime reference is KA/11/134.

ONE man was taken to hospital after a three-car accident in Harepath Road, Seaton.

The accident happened just before 12.40pm on Monday, April 11th and involved a Blue Vauxhall Corsa, a black BMW M3 and a black Renault Laguna. Police said one man was taken to hospital with injuries that did not appear to be serious.

Nominations sought for local transport helpers

DEVON County Council (DCC) is to honour those who have shown commitment to community transport in the county, and nominations are being sought.

Anyone working in the community transport sector can be nominated by passengers, staff or volunteers.

Shortlisted nominees will be invited to this year's ceremony at Larkbeare House in Exeter on Friday, June 3rd.

Categories for community transport groups include Best Fundraising Campaign/Event, Most Innovative Project and Outstanding People Development.

The important role of volunteers will be recognised in the category for Community Transport Volunteers, and one person will be selected as the overall Community Transport Volunteer of the Year.

An Outstanding Lifetime Contribution award will also be presented and paid staff will be honoured with the category of Employee of the Year.

Councillor Stuart Hughes said: "Community transport is a great asset for Devon, ensuring that communities are not cut off and helping people access some form of transport which can get them to their nearest town, local shops, GP surgery and other vital services.

"Staff and volunteers work tirelessly to help make a difference to the lives of thousands of people in our county, so we would like as many people as possible to come forward with their nominations to recognise those efforts."

Nomination forms are available from DCC and must be submitted by April 30th.

Visit the website at www.devon.gov.uk/community_transport or call DCC's community transport team on 01392 382123.

Internet view service at new crematorium

THE £4million, privately-funded and non-denominational East Devon Crematorium has opened near Whimple.

The chapel, which seats up to 90 people, is among the first in the UK to offer a webcasting facility which allows family or friends, unable to travel to a funeral, the opportunity to view the service via a secure internet link.

East Devon Crematorium is privately owned and operated by East Devon Crematorium Ltd, which was formed by Cornwall-based Chris Johns, a past president of the Institute of Cemetery and Crematorium Management.

Mr Johns said: "We have worked closely with local funeral directors to ensure that the facility is exactly what is needed in this area.

"We hope that East Devon Crematorium will offer an attractive and peaceful setting both for funeral services and for those seeking some time for quiet reflection."

Community inn voted as area Camra pub of the year

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

THE Yarcombe Community Inn, near Honiton, has been voted as the Exeter and east Devon branch of the Campaign for Real Ale (Camra) pub of the year 2011.

Two years ago the pub was threatened with closure. It was saved by a group of locals who banded together and took on the running of the pub.

A spokesman for the Exeter and east Devon Camra said: "This pub has a strong community spirit.

"It was threatened with closure two years ago but a gathering of local people rallied around and formed a committee to take over the lease and licence.

"When visiting the pub to judge Camra members were impressed by the quality of the ales, the friendly atmosphere, choice of food available, and all at reasonable prices."

Station opens its doors to recruit new firefighters

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

POTENTIAL retained firefighters have been invited to have a closer look at Seaton Fire Station.

Devon and Somerset Fire and Rescue Service is seeking to recruit retained firefighters for Seaton.

As part of the campaign, an open evening will be held on Monday, May 9th from 7pm to 9pm.

The role of the firefighter will be explained and visitors will be able to have a look at some of the equipment and have an informal chat with other firefighters.

Station Commander Robin Hammett said: "Firefighters are normal people who live or work in the community.

"They are builders, housewives, postal workers and shopkeepers – in fact they come from all and every walk of life.

"The only thing they have in common is that they have all decided to put something back into the community by becoming trained as firefighters.

"Now it is the firefighters themselves that need your help, there simply aren't enough of them and there is a real shortage of new volunteers.

"We know that there are many more women that are capable of becoming firefighters who are reluctant to put themselves forward.

"Most people believe that the physical strength required to be a firefighter is greater than it actually is."

A spokesperson for the fire and rescue service said: "Devon and Somerset Fire and Rescue service can provide the station, engines, equipment and training but the firefighters themselves have to come from the community."

Applicants must be at least 18 and physically fit.

They need to be available Monday-Friday, in particular during the daytime.

Successful applicants will have a chance to attend first aid courses and LGV driving courses.

Fraud victims urged to speak out

RESIDENTS in Hemyock are being urged to contact police if they have recently been the victim of fraud.

Officers are currently investigating a case involving identity theft which they believe may have taken place in rural areas around Tiverton, Cullompton and Wellington, Somerset.

As part of the investigation police say they are particularly keen to hear from anyone in Hemyock who may have had mail stolen from their letter boxes or residents who have discovered that credit cards have been set up in their name between September 2010 and March this year.

Anyone with information should contact police on 08452 777444. Alternatively contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Drama at the new store site

THE Tesco infill operation in Seaton has reached the halfway point.

Controversy has surrounded the scheme since it first took place at the end of March. Many residents living close to the Harbour Road construction site complained about noise when the infill operation began.

However, the noise issues have now been resolved and at the halfway stage more than 500 residents have witnessed the construction work, as it progresses, via a viewing platform installed at the site.

Pulman's View was granted access to the site on Wednesday last. During the visit, an infill pumping operation was taking place.

As these dramatic pictures show, thousands of tonnes of water and sand is pumped into the site via a pipeline. The infill comes from the coast off south Wales. As the infill is pumped through the pipe it is met by construction vehicles that push the sand into position.

Tesco officials have said they are hopeful the infill operation will be complete by the end of April. Once the infill is in position it will be left to settle before construction work on the new supermarket takes place.

Tesco has also said that they hope the store will be open in December this year.

Dog walker warning

A LOCAL authority is urging dog owners to check regulations before taking their dogs on to beaches in east Devon.

East Devon District Council (EDDC) says dog control orders apply at a number of beaches, including Seaton and Beer, between May and September.

An EDDC spokesperson explained: "Beaches in Seaton, Beer, Sidmouth, Budleigh Salterton and Exmouth all have dog-free areas.

"The restricted areas are clearly signed and visitors to the beach are advised to check these signs before taking their dogs onto the beach.

"From May 1st enforcement officers will be spot checking these beaches and anyone responsible for a dog found within the dog free area will be served with a fixed penalty notice, which carries a fine of £80.

"If you want to know where you can walk your dog or where you can find a dog-free beach please visit the website at www.eastdevon.gov.uk/beaches."

◆ DAVID Grebby and Maria Eggleton

Maria wins the calendar comp

SALES receptionist Maria Eggleton, who works at Cullingfords of Wincanton, is the winner of Axminster Carpets' 2011 calendar competition.

Since its introduction over a decade ago, the annual calendar competition has provided light-hearted entertainment for retailers nationwide — and thanks to the creative handy work of Axminster Carpets' Paul Johnson, this year proved to be no exception.

Maria beat off stiff competition from across the country, answering 12 questions on the history and activity of Axminster Carpets.

Maria was presented with her prize, including £200 for which to place a bet, by area sales manager David Grebby.

She said: "I'm really delighted to have won.

"I joined Cullingfords in May of last year and this is a lovely way to mark my first year in the business, which I have grown fond of thanks to all the different people I get to meet."

Auction bidding war for 'private cottage'

PADDOCKS and a redundant cottage near Axminster have gone under the auctioneer's hammer.

The freehold parcels of land at Poppins, Goldsmith Lane, All Saints, were among 38 lots on sale through land and property auctioneers Clive Emson at the Legacy Plymouth International Hotel in Plymouth on Thursday, April 7th.

More than 200 people attended the auction, with £1.59million raised in sales.

The redundant cottage, with driveway, sold for £25,000 - against its guide price of £10,000-plus — whilst three paddocks of between one and one and a half acres went for £14,000, £15,000 and £26,000 respectively.

Auctioneer Graham Barton said: "The disused cottage and its surrounding garden and drive led to a bidding war – and no wonder.

"The location is particularly pleasant, tucked away and offering a high degree of privacy."

An industrial unit — Number 4, Block A, Flightway Business Park, Dunkeswell, Honiton — sold leasehold for £32,000.

Cinema gets council help

HONITON Town Council has agreed to support plans for a community cinema in the town.

As previously reported in Pulman's View, Honiton resident Marianne Harman is hoping to set up a community cinema and film club in the town.

Marianne approached the town council for funds to help set up the initiative and following a recent town council meeting councillors are planning to put together a formal bid for £500 to fund a test screening event. For more information about the cinema visit the website at www.honitoncommunitycinema.co.uk. Alternatively, send an email to admin@honitoncommunitycinema.co.uk.

Double the celebration

EDITOR — On returning from a few days away we see the headlines in our local newspaper about help needed to repair Seaton's Jubilee Clock.

In a tiny paragraph my sharp-eyed husband, John, spotted a meeting to suggest a memorial to mark our Queen's Diamond Jubilee next year.

We both jumped to the same conclusion. Why not combine the two. Restore the clock, which after all was to celebrate Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, for what one might call a double diamond. You could also add a plaque added which said: Restored to its former glory to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Elizabeth in 2012, the great great granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

To pay for it? To kickstart, a small grant from the council then a raffle and some of the carnival night's proceeds, concerts, a children's party and games on Cliff Field, and a more sedate cream tea next year in Jubilee Gardens.

False perception that objections cause delay

EDITOR — There is an understandable but false perception, common to two letters in your March 29th issue, that objections have delayed the coming of Tesco to Seaton.

The slow progress of their applications has been due almost entirely to the difficulty of building anything on this flood plain site, and also partly to the district council's insistence on their planning to build on the whole flood plain site which they own.

The Environment Agency has rightly insisted that the threshhold level of any permanent structures should be over 4m above sea level.

If you look down from the esplanade — where shingle is washed over the sea wall by seasonal high tides — you can see where Harbour Road lies at 2.5m (below the seasonal high tide level).

Sea levels continue to rise, as they have since the last Ice Age, but at an accelerated rate in the last few decades.

Allowance then has to be made for the difficulty of constructing anything permanent on a sinking site, with no bedrock within measurable depth.

It took Tesco's agents a long time to prepare plans that met the requirements of the site, including outline plans for building on the whole flood plain area.

When the plans were eventually prepared and submitted, it took East Devon District Council a little longer than usual to bring them to decision, but they were very complex plans.

Yes, there were many objections, from this trust, from the town council, and from some 1,500 people who signed a local petition expressing their preference for the Sainsbury's plan on a less difficult site.

At the hearing in the town hall, objections were courteously listened to but ignored, and the plans were approved, subject to many conditions, of which the most difficult was that the district council insisted that Tesco raised the level of the whole site so that the whole area could be built on, as the district council had long wanted.

The infill operation is a difficult technical operation, for which plans took a long time to prepare and obtain consent from different agencies. Objections were again raised at the planning stage but rejected.

At no stage did the objections themselves cause any delay. The most recent Axmouth objection to the passage of exceptional loads was not the cause of any delay.

Tesco's agents had been very late in completing and submitting the plans for the pipeline bridge. If there is any further delay to the pipeline operation, it will be due to the Health and Safety Executive, who have to satisfy themselves that the bridge is safe, and to a misunderstanding between the pipeline constructors and the bridge constructors as to what the pipeline is carrying.

Yes, this trust, along with the town council and many residents, have objected to the size, the lack of resulting supermarket choice, and to the unsuitability of this site and location for this supermarket or for housing.

The authorities have only belatedly recognised that there is no suitable way into Seaton for large numbers of HGVs, whether through Axmouth or Colyford or Seaton itself; but nothing has been allowed by East Devon District Council to delay the progress of Tesco's plans.

The slow progress has been entirely due to the complex requirements of building on this site.

Those who are eager for Tesco to come should indeed be grateful to Tesco for doing so, in face of the cost and difficulty, and the likelihood that this will never be a paying proposition.

Keeping out any competition is likely to have been a major motive. Finally, for those who lament a lack of choice of shops in Seaton, I would point out that there are two convenience stores in other parts of town, as well as the Co-op on Harepath Road, and that all the major supermarkets deliver locally.

Supporters are not endangered

EDITOR— Tesco supporters may be thin on the ground but they're not endangered Mr Hunt — Pulman's View letters page, edition of April 5th.

Indeed your existence as a grumpy species is the more questionable.

The interest we have in their development is not the shop, never has been, anymore than it has for Tesco.

Selling a few more bananas and tins of beans, getting rid of the Co-op, small shops or holiday camp staff couldn't be further from their thinking.

It's just doing 'business'. Tesco is not awash with cash, it simply generates a lot and very consistently.

Banks like that. Tesco uses developers to produce schemes that let banks invest alongside this cash, making lots of money for Tesco, it is that simple.

I support them as they will develop our biggest eyesore properly which no other body was able to do.

Tesco will enjoy a short-term reward, Seaton a long-term benefit. Property prices will rise for everyone as Seaton, at last, will be a whole town with a growing future.

That sort of confidence increases the quality of infill with local investments doing 'business'and Seatonians, who are not without pride or motivation, will instigate improvements to make the town even more appealing.

It's regeneration Mr Hunt, not extinction. Thank you Tesco, well done.

Living in 'cloud cuckoo land'

EDITOR — I would like to reply to the several letters you have published recently in support of the Tesco development.

Where are these people getting the idea that this Tesco is going to be a superstore? Have they looked on the EDDC website at the plans?

Because if they had and read them correctly they would see that this is nothing more than a small store attached to an online warehouse.

This is on the plan, bringing with it all the resultant problems of vans and lorries all day and night.

I live opposite the site and it's not very pleasant.

These people need to look at the whole picture and not at what they want, that's just selfish.

I moved here some years ago because I loved Seaton, I still do, but if I wanted to live in a Milton Keynes-type place I would have moved there.

This development is only going to benefit Tesco and EDDC, not Seaton or its residents.

Wake up people, you are living in 'cloud cuckoo land'.

Beware of the so-called problem solving by-pass

EDITOR — Residents in east Devon are in for a shock. You can read all about it in great deatil on Councillor Ian Thomas' web site www.trinitymatters.co.uk.

Fortunately, in Axmouth Ian's our representative and there's also our parish council chairman who both have employment backgrounds in highways — so they do know what they're talking about and what's to come.

In the press there's been some negative stories about Axmouth for the residents trying to get a 7.5 ton weight limit restriction for the village.

The traffic using the Tesco and the regeneration site is likely to clog up every road along the Axe Valley and well beyond. Busy parents, workers and farmers will be spending yet more precious time cooped up in vehicles trying to get into and around Seaton.

You may be feeling smug thinking about the new opportunity to shop at great value whilst you cruise along the estuary or view the sea.

Think again — on the delivery side for instance — I've spoken to the current Co-op drivers. They get to the big Seaton store through Axmouth because satellite navigation tells them to.

If they're going to the Harepath store then its Seaton first. So with Tesco's delveries will it be via Honiton, Axminster? They'll just take their choice.

Relative newcomers, like myself and there are quite a few, are incredulous. This will be the fourth place I've lived in where the clamour for a bypass is proposed as the solution to all ills.

In Salisbury the poor siting of the out-of-town Tesco store, amongst others, means that on a Friday late afternoon in Summer just getting into town can take an extra one-and-a-half hours.

The traffic takes the minor roads or avoids the town entirely, and who wouldn't?

I do wish I could have had £10 from every individual who wants a bypass for somewhere where they dont live so they can get somewhere else much quicker.

I could have personally subsidised the bus service throughout the entire country.

The present situation is a sad and predictable state of affairs down to lack of foresight, competence and delusions of grandeur.

Worse still is there's also been some disingenuous behaviour along the line.

The senior planner described the operating noise, when the pipeline was agreed, as 'a swishing sound' as she had witnessed in Bournemouth.

At the time it had me thinking of babies being soothed to sleep. Ironic now that in order to achieve what was promised to the councillors it's needed to be wrapped in glorified cotton wool to achieve the desired effect.

The vast nature of the project is self evident, like a gigantic consumerist folly that resembles the activities of the newly-rich Victorians who had more money than sense.

Tesco, at one time a great business, has with this store surely lost the plot?

What is particularly disappointing is that Seaton, one of the gateways to the Jurassic Coast, is slowly and naturally regenerating through low-key but more sustainable tourist and sports events around cycling and running.

The building of this store will make this aspect much harder to capitalise on.

When we're all busy it's difficult to summon the energy to get involved in local politics and try and do something positive about these matters — after all it can be one of the driest and most bureaucratic human enterprises on the planet.

But, is it right that some of the candidates for the much criticised EDDC are being elected uncontested without a vote?

There were also many councillors who voted for this scheme who live miles away from the imminent turmoil that they voted to create?

Fortunately, the current government has given us a tool to exert huge pressure on the new council at EDDC and Devon Highways for that matter, and I'm not talking about the vote, which we know has its limitations.

Lets take David Cameron at his word demonstrate 'localism in action'. Use the mighty pen — or email — call a local meeting, write a letter to the minister for transport or David Cameron himself.

Pressure, pressure, pressure. EDDC and Tesco have caused this problem they must sort it out.

The options are plenty; a 7.5 ton limit on all roads into Seaton as in Lyme, smaller delivery vehicles, 80 per cent home deliveries, goods in by rail but not a bypass in Axmouth.

It would be nice to know if you do plan to act — a unified, district-wide response would certainly have most impact.

Relocation for EDDC?

EDITOR — Once Tesco has finished its part of the current building phase on the regeneration area they will leave an area shown on the outline plans as housing, this, of course, may or may not get built upon depending on a developer purchasing the land, which will have been raised.

Here's an idea, EDDC occupy the Knowle, an expensive site, one that costs a lot of money to maintain, one that does not meet the needs of the council but a site that could attract a very substantial price if sold.

EDDC granted Tesco the development permissions saying it was good for Seaton and it's regeneration.

OK EDDC why not sell the Knowle, purchase the land to the east of the new Tesco store, grant yourselves permission to build a nice new facility and move EDDC to Seaton, thus supporting that very same regeneration and ultimately saving money on maintaining the Knowle.

More trees also felled

EDITOR — You reported the proposal to redevelop the Phillips Centre in your April 12th edition of Pulman's View and note that a tree survey has been undertaken and recommendations incorporated with the proposals.

What you didn't report is that more than a dozen mature trees were felled shortly before the tree survey was undertaken and the planning application submitted.

Although it is always likely that some trees may need to be cleared to make way for a redevelopment like this, it is regrettable that so many trees, some of which could have continued to enhance the neighbourhood for decades to come, have been lost.

A lesson here is that when the county council disposes of land, as they appear to have done here, they should ensure that the buyers retain as many trees as possible and that the planning authority are given an opportunity to consider a tree protection scheme as part of an agreed brief for redevelopment.

Trees bring summer shade, are windbreaks, help to reduce surface water flooding, are wildlife habitats and soften our outlook.

They takes decades to mature and seem to be disappearing rapidly in this town.

I want to see a better landscaping scheme than the one currently proposed so that this damage can be put right — at least for the next generation.

Pulman's View from the churches

With NIGEL SPELLER

MANY local churches will be holding their annual meetings at this time, with reports of the past year and elections of officers for the future.

At this week, known as Holy Week, churches follow Jesus' last days leading to his Crucifixion, and then all look forward to the Easter festival.

This year we have the added excitement of the Royal Wedding on the following Friday – and national and local celebrations.

Lots of events at this time — recently local businesses put on a concert at Musbury to raise funds for their church. For other events do refer to the church magazines.

Many local churches are increasingly concerned about the cost of repairs to their buildings. And there have been some novel ways of raising funds, such as collecting unwanted gold trinkets and selling them.

Then there have been walks and runs and slimming schemes. This column would like to hear of more local ideas which can be passed on.

Following Easter the next major event must be the Royal Wedding. In our locality one of the local schools is taking all pupils and staff, with parents invited, to their parish church before the event to show everyone what is involved in a wedding service.

The Church of England has published prayers for adults and children to ask God's blessing on Prince William and Kate Middleton's marriage.

The adult version asks that they will 'deepen their love and strengthen their wills to keep the promises they will make, that they may continue in life-long faithfulness to each other'.

The prayer is designed for individuals, groups or public services, and can be adapted for 'all couples preparing for their wedding'.

The schoolchildren's prayer asks Jesus to 'keep them safe, make them happy and help them to look after each other always'.

The Catholic church has also issued a prayer that the couple may be given the strength to serve God, the nation and the Commonwealth with integrity and faithfulness.

Looking ahead, Awliscombe has a barn dance in aid of the church on Friday, May 6th at 7.30pm enquiries and tickets on 07865990846.

There will also be farewells to two local clergy — and their families — to the Revd Nick Wall at Dunkeswell and The Rev Alan Sheath at Awliscombe — thank you for all you have done, and good wishes for the future.

This news reminds us, that when such gaps arise parishes look for help from retired clergy and self-supporting ministers who assist in parishes without stipends.

A study by an SSM in Littlemore has suggested that such ministers often felt ignored and under-used. The last remark does not seem to apply in Devon.

Spring in society's step

HAVING endured weeks of snow, frozen roads and sub zero temperatures prior to Christmas and even more of the ravages of winter since then, many shrubs, plants and even greenhouse protected species will have been lost.

So with this in mind, there has never been a better time to join in and support Uplyme and Lyme Regis Horticultural Society which throughout the year provides informative monthly meetings, gardening based outings, two competitive shows and two plant sales where you can re-stock your garden at a fraction of garden centres' prices.

Tony Cook will be delighted to hear from prospective new members.

Subscriptions are £5 for an individual and £8 for a family.

This includes free entry to 10 of the society's 19 events this year.

In January Clive Grove, of Groves Nurseries, Bridport, gave an informative and amusing talk entitled Secret Lives of Violets in which he introduced members to the history and care of these popular plants.

With the aid of a very professional slide show he illustrated the varieties available to the gardener, many of which can be viewed in the national collection which is on display now at the Groves Nuerseries, Bridport.

They will be at their flowering best until the middle of April, so why not call in and see this display.

The third annual barn dance, was held on January 29th and such was the support from members and friends that it may well be considered as the best dance evening to date.

Over 110 people attended, danced to Long Odds and Short Straws, participated in the raffle and enjoyed a ploughman's supper raising a very rewarding £650.

Dr Andrew Tresidder talked on Bach Flower Remedies at the February meeting.

Andrew, a Somerset GP for over 20 years, is a keen teacher of health.

He recognises that health for the individual mirrors that of society and its attitudes to food and nutrition, its exposure to chemical and electromagnetic load, as well as the natural environment we live in.

His special interests are the emotional aspects of health. He teaches about tools that can help people develop the best of themselves such as Bach and other flower essences.

After the annual meeting March 23rd Mike of Great British Baskets gave a demonstration of how to use willow to create garden structures.

His humour, skill and encouragement to 'have a go' delighted the audience and many will be trying their hand at creating their own structures.

The seasons march on and hopefully the cold and frosty weather has been left behind us.

With the improving temperatures comes spring and a visit to the garden centre will be on the cards.

However, there is an alternative and a more economical way of restocking your garden: that is by visiting one of the many plant sales organised by local horticultural societies in community halls throughout the area.

Uplyme and Lyme Regis Horticultural Society is no exception in this respect and it will be holding its spring plant sale and coffee morning from 10am to 12 noon.

I will be at Uplyme Village Hall, on Saturday, May 7th.

So, come along and purchase from a wide range of plants, vegetables, bedding shrubs and perennials — all generously donated by members and friends of the society to help raise funds to help finance the society and its summer show on Saturday, July 16th.

If you have plants and garden items you would like to donate to the society for this sale please bring them along to the hall, on the morning of the sale, which will be open to receive your donations from 8am.

Interesting talk about living the poor life project

AT the April meeting of Axminster Historical Society, Mrs June Wellington spoke about the Living The Poor Life project.

She explained that the project was set up in order to examine, transcribe and edit the large amount of correspondence that passed between the Guardians of the Union workhouses, which were set up by the 1834 Reform Act, and the Poor Law Commissioners in London.

Twenty Poor Law areas were selected to start the project and Axminster was fortunate to be in this first group.

Ten or 11 volunteers were trained in the procedures to be followed, by Dr Paul Carter, from the Public Archive, who visited the area several times.

A wealth of material has been made available on-line, which will be of great value to academic, local and family historians.

Agricultural wages in Devon were very low, and many families in the rural parishes which comprised the union found that they had to ask for help.

Before the 1834 Act, poor families were often given money and bread, to enable them to stay in their own homes, but this was changed and many families or parts of a family were now told to enter the workhouse. Conditions there were harsh, with a barely sufficient diet and separation of family members.

At one inspection of the Axminster workhouse it was noticed that windows of the day room overlooked the girls' yard, and it was suggested that these should be blocked up.

Many names are recorded, of the guardians who were elected for each parish, the overseers who were local administrators, and those in need of assistance. Many sad stories are told.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 5th when the speaker will be Stephen Reed from Devon Archaeological Service who will talk about recent archaeological work in east Devon.

Visitors are always welcome at the Masonic Hall South Street at 7.30pm.

Scanning for spring swallows

I'VE been scanning the telephone wires at the front of the garden for the past week in the hope and expectation of seeing the first pair of swallows but so far without success.

I know, however, that there have been a handful of sightings and, in fact, had a phone call from a reader, Alison Dams from Holy City, near Chardstock, to tell me that she has seen her first pair of swallows.

I'm surprised that the warm sunny days of early April have not induced some early arrivals but, hopefully, they will be with us shortly. Alison also told me that, like many others, her garden has been suffering from the depredations of roe deer.

Unfortunately, these handsome deer have a penchant for rosebuds, vegetables and a wide variety of flowers. The damage can be heart-breakingly extensive and garden owners who might perhaps take pleasure in seeing roe in the wild, tend to be less enthusiastic when they find themselves the target for these deer.

How can gardens be protected from roe deer depredations? One answer, an expensive one, is to erect deer-proof fencing but this is often totally impractical. However, one metre high wire netting can be erected against a growing hedge which will, quickly, grow through the wire and make an impenetrable barrier.

However, the bottom of the wire must be buried or firmly fixed into the ground otherwise deer will simply tunnel under it.

Deterrents, such as human hair or lion droppings from the local zoo, are usually a complete waste of time though hanging glittering CDs from branches may have a short-term deterrent effect. Electric fencing can also work but is not exactly a desirable addition to a garden. The only alternative is to choose and plant flowers, shrubs and vegetable which are least attractive to these deer.

At least we are not yet inundated with muntjac, though occasional reports indicate that these little Asian deer are beginning to make headway in the West Country. Further to the east, where they are rapidly expanding, muntjac can cause devastation to gardens and are almost impossible to keep out.

They can crawl under and through fences yet are capable of jumping a barrier five feet high and scrape under a fence which will let a fox through will also accommodate a muntjac.

Deterrents such as bangers and flashing lights, while they may initially work, have a limited effect as these little deer get used to them, though one reasonably effective deterrent is a transistor radio switched on during the night as the sound of human voices seems to do the trick. I would imagine Radio 1 is ideal!

I have already mentioned in this column the 50th anniversary of the Dorset Wildlife Trust, an event which is being celebrated in a number of ways. The latest is an invitation to 50 walkers to join in the Jurassic Challenge.

If you have the stamina, stout leg muscles and the inclination, the challenge is to undertake 50 miles in 50 hours across the Jurassic coastal stretch from West Bay to Swanage. Places are limited to the first 50 people to apply and walkers will be expected to raise a minimum of £50 sponsorship plus £25 to register and this includes overnight camping at Ringstead Bay with an evening meal and breakfast.

Tents and large packs will be carried by road so contestants will only have to carry day packs. The 50-mile stroll will cover more than half Dorset's coastline, from salt marsh to cliff tops and will be an opportunity to look out for wild life and flower species on the way. For more information contact Nick Gray or Emily Newton on 01300 321329.

Village hosts 'Easter trail'

KILMINGTON Baptist Church is staging The Easter Trail at the village's cricket ground on Saturday, April 23rd from 3pm-4.30pm.

The church's youth worker, Adam Diment, said: "We have eight different interactive stations set up which show the Christian Easter Story.

"We go from Jesus arriving into Jerusalem all the way through to Jesus being put on a cross.

"At each station the kids will get a puzzle piece which, once they have done all the stations, will make up the story of Easter.

"They can then claim and Easter egg at the end from the pavilion. We ran it for the first time last year and got about 40 families coming out from Kilmington and the surrounding area."

The event is free and open to everyone. More information about the event is available from Mr Diment on 01297 33385.

Pair wins university places and £1k prize

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

TWO students at The Woodroffe School have secured major awards towards their university places.

Carolyn King, from Raymonds Hill, and Samuel Jenkin, from Lyme Regis, both sat additional biology exams to qualify for unconditional offers at Aberystwyth University and an additional £1,000 in funding in their first year.

Carolyn said: "I have wanted to do zoology for a number of years now and was particularly excited by the course at Aberystwyth.

"This is a great opportunity for me and will give me a real springboard into my future career."

Head of sixth form Jim Thomas commented: "I'm really thrilled for these students. "These awards have given the students encouragement and have rewarded their perseverance."

Sam wants to take a different path and explained: "I am really looking forward to joining the Army for the Officer Training programme at Sandhurst.

"My guaranteed place to study for a biology degree means that I will have something very solid to fall back on at the end of an Army career."

Nursery kids filmed for TV

YOUNGSTERS at a Honiton nursery have been filmed for a CBeebies show.

A camera crew descended on the Folly Nursery and the children were filmed for a show called Having Fun.

Head of Nursery Helen Freeman said: "The day was a fabulous opportunity and came about thanks to one of our parents, who works as a BBC stage manager.

"The crew had to spend time getting the right shots and needed the children to repeat their lines until the perfect take was in the can.

"All the hard work paid off though, and everyone enjoyed their day's work. The day was a fabulous learning opportunity for the nursery children to gain an insight into other people's jobs, what it is like to be on TV and a chance to be really creative."

The Having Fun show is being used to promote CBeebies shows like Bob the Builder, The Octonauts and Rastamouse.

'Royal' visit for villagers

OSCAR-WINNING actor Colin Firth is coming to Beer. Sadly not in person but it will be the next best thing for local film fans as the Beer Film Society screens The King's Speech on Saturday, April 23rd.

"We couldn't ask for a better film for our Easter Saturday spectacular," said chairman Andy Williams.

"There will be a lot of holidaymakers in the village and they are more than welcome to come along and have a great evening."

The film, which won four Hollywood Oscars as well as many other global awards, will be shown at the Mariner's Hall with doors opening at 7pm and the film starting at 7.30pm.

Tickets are available in advance from Beer Post Office at £5 for the general public and £4 for Beer Film Society members and will also be on sale on the night.

Guides watch patron unveil special mosaic

GIRLGUIDES from Seaton and Ottery were among those who watched Girlguiding Devon's Patron — The Rt Hon The Lady Clinton DL — unveil a mosaic on Saturday, April 9th at Woodlands Leisure Park.

About 130 guides and leaders attended the ceremony.

The mosaic contains more than 30,000 tiles and was made by guides to mark the organisation's centenary last year.

Pippa Anning, aged 14 and from Seaton, said: "Being a guide is fun, you get to do great stuff and visit places – all with no boys about to spoil things.

"I know which piece of the mosaic is mine and the fact it will be here forever is awesome."

County commissioner Sue Bullock added: "Having so many girls here at last year's camp proved just how important and relevant the Girlguiding movement remains today.

"Across Devon we had an amazing centenary year and have some wonderful memories, but to have our mosaic here on permanent display is really special."

Pool receives £3k donation

FLAMINGO Pool in Axminster has received a much-appreciated donation of £3,000 from Axe Vale Festival.

The money will go towards a cover for the hydrotherapy pool, and Flamingo Pool manager Steve Buxton said: "With our combined gas and electricity bill of over £5,000 a month, anything we can do to reduce this by improving our efficiency will give the pool a bright future."

He added: "The festival has supported the pool for over 13 years, so a huge thanks from the pool to the festival committee for all its hard work and support."

Numbers for party people

THE organisers of a Colyton party are asking those who are thinking of attending to let them know in advance so that they can organise the catering.

Colyton Feoffees is organising a party for residents aged 60 and over.

The party will take place at 4pm in Colyton Town Hall.

An attendance list is placed on the town hall notice board, the library, chemist and post office. Residents who are attending the party are asked to sign one of the lists in advance.

VINTAGE RALLY

A 103-YEAR-OLD horse drawn steam pump will be one of the main attractions at this year's Fire Engine and Vintage Vehicle Rally and Country Fair at Escot Estate, Fairmile, near Ottery St Mary.

The rally is being held on Sunday, June 26th from 10am-5pm and will feature dozens of vintage fire engines and other vehicles, displays and other attractions.

Proceeds from this popular event which takes place every two years will go towards The Fire Fighters' Charity.

Event co-ordinator Chris Swindle said: "The service works hard to ensure that firefighters have the best vehicles and equipment to do their job, but we also value the proud history of our service and have pride in our past achievements.

"We would welcome the public at the rally where they will enjoy this glimpse into the past and entertainment from the present."

Apart from the vehicles on display other attractions will include demonstrations of the 1908 St Giles Steam Pump drawn by two Percheron horses, steam engine rides, children's rides and entertainment, craft marquee, refreshments and other emergency responders (police/ambulance).

The cost of entry is: adults £5; OAP and children £3; family ticket £15.

Me and My Girl at seaside

LYME Regis Operatic Society is thrilled to be the first society in the area to present Me and My Girl, following its recent re-release for amateurs.

The dates for Me and My Girl, at the Marine Theatre, are from Tuesday May 10th to Saturday May 14th.

Me and My Girl is by L Arthur Rose and Douglas Furber, with music by Noel Gay and has been revised by Stephen Fry.

The story concerns the long lost heir of Hareford Hall (the very cockney Bill), the devotion of his lovely girlfriend Sally (also very cockney) and an aristocratic, totally barking family who disapprove of Bill and most definitely disapprove of his beloved Sally.

Add Bill's cockney friends and some rather strange ancestors to the mix and there are many opportunities for comedy and chaos.

Of course it ends happily for just about everyone but along the way there are some hilarious moments and great songs, The Lambeth Walk, The Sun Has Got His Hat On, The Family Solicitor, to name just three.

Fortnam, Smith and Banwell, on 01297 445666, will be selling tickets Ticket prices are £11 for adults and £5 for children.

Epic tales of heroics, gods and love

OVID'S epic tales of heroics, love, gods, monsters and the secrets of the universe are revealed through gasmasks, gramophones, live original songs, dance, puppetry, film and darkly comic, dynamic storytelling.

The Metamorphoses are fantastical love stories that pursue the theme of physical transformation. In each magical myth, a human body is miraculously changed into a different form — a tree; an island; an animal; a flower; an ocean; a constellation…

Pants on Fire's award winning, actor-musician extravaganza relocates Roman mythology to 1940's wartime Britain. Cupid is an evacuee with a catapult, Narcissus is a Hollywood matinee idol drooling over his screen image and an Andrews Sisters Chorus finds close harmony amid cosmic chaos.

Ovid's Metamorphoses are an exploration of man's inextricable link with nature and the universe. At a time when the earth is beginning another metamorphosis, and humankind finds itself on the brink of 'change', these prescient ancient myths strike a poignant chord.

Pants on Fire is a London based ensemble, which celebrates visual theatricality, style and the language of theatre. Ovid's Metamorphoses was a sell out success at 2010's Edinburgh Fringe festival and won the Carol Tambor Best of Edinburgh Award which gave the winners a fully funded run in an off-Broadway Theatre in New York, January 2011. They also won the WhatsOnStage Editors Award.

The production will be at Drum Theatre, Plymouth, from Tuesday, May 3rd to Saturday, May 7th.

IT'S an icon of Japanese performance and its predecessors had a habit of humbling supercars for breakfast: say hello to the 2011-spec Nissan GT-R.

There's no mistaking it for anything else: its exterior design is focused on channelling air, feeding the engine and brakes and keeping it stuck to the road for as long as physically possible. Not that it is unattractive as a result, far from it in fact. It just has the simple appeal of a finely-honed chef's knife — purposeful and mightily effective.

Spotting the latest breed of GT-R requires dedication, not least because you won't see many about. This isn't a Nissan you'll see on every street corner: limited numbers will be available in the UK and only 14 hand-picked dealers have been entrusted with the privilege of selling you one. A car of this nature deserves respect.

There are plenty of other detail tweaks too. Sharpened aerodynamics, lighter wheels, improved cooling, retuned suspension and upgraded tyres, better cabin materials and even a low fuel consumption mode for when the mood takes you. This is more than just an annual update.

One thing that hasn't changed is the performance. Of course there is a little more power: an increase to take it to a Ferrari-bashing 523bhp. As ever, this power is channelled through a six-speed dual clutch gearbox to the fiendishly clever four-wheel drive system. Clever because the numerous electronic brains constantly monitor a whole range of vehicle parameters in order to achieve maximum acceleration and minimal slip. If that sounds like a dull way of going about things, then you could not be more wrong.

For a car that will nudge 200mph in a straight line, it is anything but intimidating. Pop open the sleek aluminium door handle to climb inside and the layout before you is purposeful but welcoming. The small, chunky steering wheel has the feel of a racing car, and the superb Recaro seats adjust over a wide range but however it's set it will clamp you in place, ready for the G-forces to come.

Start up, slip the transmission lever into automatic and you'll wonder what all the fuss is about. It pulls away as seamlessly as a family hatch with only a rumble from the exhausts and the firmness of the ride to give any indication that there's more on offer. There's even the option of softening up the suspension for bumpier roads, as well as setting the stability control and rear diff to more sympathetic settings. It will even operate in two-wheel drive during tight manoeuvres to avoid any unpleasant transmission shunt. Like any true supercar of the modern age, it can do the boring stuff without throwing tantrums and making you wish you'd taken the bus.

It's a true everyday supercar, and you'll take every mile of it without hesitation for the pleasure it provides when the road conditions go in your favour. Not that you need good weather and a sunny day: rain, wind or shine, the GT-R is equipped to deploy every ounce of its performance regardless of conditions.

Even the smallest gap in traffic is enough. The merest squeeze of the accelerator brings in the twin turbochargers, and despite the mammoth output there is a large wedge of torque available from low revs. But if you want the full effect, switch the transmission to manual, sharpen the suspension and transmission modes and push the throttle to the floor.

Before you get to the carpet the GT-R surges forward and begins to eat up the asphalt in front. Beyond 3,000rpm the scenery starts to blur and your eyes will instinctively widen, all accompanied by a purposeful roar from the tailpipes.

There may be hypercars that could out run it, but none of them can match the GT-R's ability to deploy this performance so easily and so frequently.

And all this drama can be brought to a halt in a flash thanks to the mighty carbon brakes. Learn hard on them and they will not wilt, a twitch of the steering wheel and it will dive in to the bend exactly as your inputs demand. The grip on offer is eye-widening, and you have complete control aided by the four-wheel drive system for maximum acceleration out the other side.

It's a sensory overload when you want and yet it can cope with the humdrum without breaking sweat. It has the kudos and the looks to turn heads wherever it goes and needs no excuses when pulling alongside the established supercar hierarchy.

But the sucker punch is the price: starting at £69,950, the Nissan GT-R runs rings around similarly-priced exotica. All you need to do is sign on the dotted line.

Tesco is to reward car customers

TESCO is ignoring traditional supermarket retailing and branching out into the second-hand car market with an internet only service for used car buyers.

The website — Tescocars.com — went live on Sunday and will advertise up to 3,000 cars a week sourced from hire and lease fleets and will reward shoppers with 2,000 Tesco Clubcard points if they buy a vehicle through the site.

It aims to offer good deals by supplying car stock direct from the source and claims each car will go through a 167 point independent inspection by the RAC, including a ramp inspection and road test.

The move comes after Tesco bought a significant minority stake in online dealership Carsite for an undisclosed sum. The group said it wants to offer a trusted and convenient second hand car service, with a seven-day, money-back guarantee if buyers are unhappy with their purchase.

Andrew Higginson chief executive of retailing services at Tesco said: "By supplying directly to customers, there is no middle man and no expensive showroom and no salespeople on commission."

A medal winning cyclist

AXE Valley Pedallers' cycling club member Alistair Cope recently met up with Simon Richardson MBE, Paralympic champion cyclist.

Simon won two Paralympic Games gold medals and also picked up a silver medal in Beijing in 2008.

He was subsequently awarded an MBE in the 2009 New Year Honours and met Alistair at a charity do.

Simon, who lives in south Wales, was supporting the Dragon Ride that Alistair is riding in June for The Prostate Cancer Charity.

Alistair said: "Simon is such an inspiration to cyclists.

"To go through so much pain after a crash in 2001 and motivate himself to win not one but two gold medals is extraordinary.

"It was great to spend a day with Simon cycling some of this year's route and I look forward to meeting up with him again in June."

AVR presents £22k to groups

A QUESTION was posed on the radio last week — "What is happiness?"

Surprisingly, one of the things that gave great joy to humans was being able to help each another. Well as a result of the Grizzly, Axe Valley Runners (AVR) should be overflowing with happiness.

At a packed Winston's last Friday, Garry Perratt, ably assisted by Rick Wood, was able to give away £22,000 as a result of this year's Grizzly and Grizfest. There was no one major charity donation, but cheques were presented to representatives of 41 local groups that help with the running of the event.

On top of that there were 14 donations to various charities as chosen by the landowners on the course. More groups and people than ever are getting involved, not only with superb marshalling and drink stations helping, but car parking and clearing up are tasks now required.

There were 500 t-shirts printed for the support crew and nearly all have gone. Many of these organisations pass the money on to their favourite charities as the testimony of recipients explained. Overall AVR has been able to give away £201,000 to charities over the 24 year history of the Grizzly.

For any Grizzly fans then you will want to know that next year's 25th anniversary run will be on Sunday, March 11th. The entry forms will be on the AVR website — www.axevalleyrunners.org.uk — around September 17th.

A superb race to watch, but too hot to run in was the overall verdict from the AVR contingent in this year's London Marathon. One person who revelled in the conditions was Jonathan Day; he had a superb run, beating his marathon personal best by over seven minutes finishing in 3:21:07 in 2,854th spot.

Even Jon had his problems; he cramped up twixt miles 21 to 23, but managed to get going again. Eleanor Wood also had a great run, she was absolutely covered in sweat as she powered across the line 4,382nd in 3:33:21. In his first marathon Tim Sibley beat the 4:30 barrier; he was 13,720th in 4:19:57. Rhea Shave was another first timer, she did well to complete in 5:02:04, 23,918th.

In 2007 Gill Day was 19 stone and could not run a step. What a transformation over the past few years, she has totally embraced running and with husband Jon has brought many new members to the club. She was determined to finish in less than six hours and had Dave Braunton for company early on.

Dave unfortunately had to stop at 18 miles to have medical assistance on his back, leaving Gill to carry on alone.

She was chuffed to bits to finish in 5:45:40, 30,444th. Dave wasn't going to let the pain stop him finishing and battled on finishing in 5:57:18, 31,522nd.

◆ THE Grizzly run presentation recipients and Seaton Town Crier at Winston's

Last Wednesday AVR was pleased to organise the Police National Cross Country Championships at Beer Head, with separate races for male and female officers from forces throughout England, Scotland and Wales. Traditionally the courses for these events are set out over a relatively flat area of land and run as many times as necessary to result in a distance of roughly eight miles for the men and five miles for the ladies.

In contrast to this a mini-Grizzly approach was adopted by AVR with both courses being set out between Beer Head and Branscombe mouth, the men's of 6.5 miles including four hard climbs and the ladies of four miles including three hard climbs but both including a long section of beach after the water crossing at Branscombe mouth.

The overall distances were curtailed to compensate for the degree in difficulty.

The ladies set off first at 1pm with 95 finishers. Diane Lauder of Lothian and Borders was first in a cracking time of 33:48, Natalie Farrow of Lincolnshire came in second in 36:53 and Christine Howard of Derbyshire was third in 38:04.

The men went at 2pm with 216 finishers. Rob Jackaman of the Met was first in an impressive time of 45:30, Peter Tuck also of the Met was second in 46:20 and Ian Wetherall of Cheshire came third in 46:54.

Retired Sam Anning secured 26th place in 51:43, Malcolm MacDonald of Wiltshire came 42nd in 54:40 and Andy Sayers, also retired was placed 181 in 1:12:53.

Both courses were very demanding. One of the men observed that his race was the hardest he had ever competed in.

The general consensus was that the whole event was awesome. AVR would like to thank Mrs Dormer and son Rick for permitting the event to be undertaken on their land.

EAST DEVON SHORT MAT BOWLS LEAGUE

STILL one match outstanding and this will decide the final positions at the top of the Afternoon Leagues.

Two home wins; Awliscombe B, 5-3, moved up two places and are now in second place, St Teresa's recorded their best result of the season, 8-0, and with a shot margin large enough to move them up two places to fourth while Lyme Regis shared the points at Colyton.

The last match yet to be played will decide second place; Seaton Cliff B must win at Awliscombe to return to runner-up place so Awliscombe B await their A team colleagues.

In the second division the winners were Combe St Nicholas, 5-3 away, Sidford B by the same margin at home and Sidbury 7-1, also at home.

This means that Sidford B end the season in second place and will move to Division One next season.

Congratulations to them for their achievement. Sidbury finish third, just failing by one point to return to Division One at their first attempt.

In the other match Seaton Cliff A and Musbury achieved the same result in their return game, this time sharing the points at Musbury.

In the knock-out Upottery won at home to move forward to the next round with six games won and two drawn.

Definitely in the final are Beer who overcame Colyton by the narrowest margin; Colyton won 6-1 at home with one drawn game, Beer then replied winning 7-1 at home.

The difference in shots over the two games was just two so obviously a very close contest.

HONITON GOLF CLUB

PGA Pro Am Medal

MEMBERS played a medal game with a twist on Sunday with the winner getting the chance to go forward to compete in a Pro Am Competition along side the club's professional Adrian Cave at the prestigious but challenging Saunton course.

As if a medal card wasn't hard enough some scored exceptionally well on a bright and sunny day.

The top three in Division One finished T Wood 67, S Bromby 69 and D Rouse 71. But, the best score was first in Division Two; N Pulman with a spectacular 65 will partner Adrian with J Netherway 68 in second and J Chew 69 third.

Tuesday Mixed

Now that Spring is on its way numbers are increasing for the Tuesday Mixed Competitions. Due to work on the course a Texas Scramble was played which is always a friendly and enjoyable format.

First and second places both had the same gross score — 64 — however, the winners with 8.3 allowance, net 55.7, were Linda and John Northover and Avril Shepherd and Jason Gosling.

Second place, with allowance of 7.9, net 56.1, were Jan and John Dickinson and Andrea and Stan Squire.

Ladies Section

The ladies celebrated the start of a new season of golf with their customary Spring Lunch preceded by a fun game 14-hole Texas Scramble.

The team of Elizabeth Ward, Andrea Squire, Sharon Dacre and Di Wall beat off the predicted rain and all comers with a grand total of 39.8, very closely chased by Jackie Seager, Henrietta Bradshaw, Tricia Swindell and Maureen McIlvean who finished with 40.3, while Penny Blackburn, Chris Lutman, Linda Blundell and Margaret Jory gallantly defended third place with 43.4.

Great scores on a course of temporary greens.

Senior Section

An individual Stableford was this week's test for the seniors. Division Two players showed what could be done with Don Leach and newcomer Norman Fleet both recording 40 points.

It was old hand Don who took first place however negotiating the back nine slightly better.

Ray Cross and Bill Phillips both recorded 38 points with Ray taking the honours on count back.

Phil Faulkner was one point behind to claim fifth prize.

In Division One Tony Proudfoot showed a clean pair of heels to the rest of the field with 39 points,three clear of Jim Wallis, John Gillingham and Mike Kent. Stan Squire just edged out Gerry Tucker and Vic Wood to take fifth place on count back with 35 points.

On a less than perfect putting surface nine twos were recorded, which begs the question why is it easier to putt when the green is full of holes and covered in sand?

LYME REGIS GOLF CLUB

AFTER the disappointment of the cancellation of the April medal competition due to fog, the improvement in the weather and successful completion of the competitive and recreational golf programme continued almost unabated for Lyme Regis Golf Club.

Seniors Golf

The first event to be staged successfully was the April Stableford. Whilst those who won each of the the two divisions recorded good scores, some of the players found the chilling wind prevailing in some areas of the course difficult to handle and, as a consequence, there were a significant number of low scores carded.

The result was that the standard scratch for the day was 73. The eventual winner of division one, Peter Cogan (9) carded a very respectable 38 points with John Burden (15) in second place with 37. In third place was Brian Ridley (18) with 35 points.

Division two was won on countback by Jim Pettifer (20) with 33 points with Peter Morgan (21) in second place also with 33. Third was Mike List (23) with 32 points.

Later on in the week the seniors travelled to Honiton for the away leg of their match against their local rivals. Home advantage is always difficult to overcome. However, all matches were closely contested with Honiton narrowly secured a victory by 4 - 3.

Midweek Stableford

The first of the midweek stableford competitions of the summer season was successfully staged on Wednesday, April 6th. Again, with excellent course conditions and in near perfect weather, some excellent scores were carded. Of particular note was the achievement of a scratch handicap by Roger Seed at the ripe old age of 51.

However, his carded 38 points was not quite good enough to win the event as he was pipped at the post by his 14-year-old son George (9) with an outstanding 40 points. In third place was Greg Matthews(4) with 35 points.

April Stableford

Sunday, April 10th saw the arrival of not only the start of the Easter holiday period but also outstanding wether for the staging of the April Stableford competition.

With fairways continuing to give excellent run and predictable bounce and with the greens continuing to improve, some excellent cards were returned for the event.

The eventual winner of division one, on countback, was ex club captain Jim Allan (7) with 39 points Chris Browne (11) in second place and Rob Coombe (13) also with 39 points. Division two was won by David Jones (19) with an excellent 40 points with John Cleal (16) with 36 and GC Green third with 35.

AXE CLIFF GOLF CLUB

Seniors' Section

THE inter-club season for the seniors opened with a visit of Windwhistle on Wednesday. The weather was glorious and inspired the home team to a handsome victory by five to one.

Winners for Axe Cliff included stand-in captain Rob Grove partnered by Bryan Dale, Rob Heard and John White, Chris Walker and Alan Vincent and Terry Jessup and Clive Davie.

John Mant with Jack Bannister obtained a half, as did Mike Tomes and Hugh Willis.

The April Stableford last Friday also marked the 80th birthday of former club and seniors' captain Morrison Brown, who was as usual first out at 8am.

Long may he continue to flourish. Once again the scores matched the conditions with two players returning cards of 39 points. The winner on countback was Derek Williamson (24) with Iain Bain (14) having to settle for second place. Third on his own, was Rob Grove (16) with 38 points. There were three twos, Derek Williamson, Hugh Willis and John Mant.

Ladies' Section

The ladies competed last week for the Foursomes Cup and for the Peugeot Cornonation Foursomes qualifiers.

The winners were Sandra Walker (16) and Barbara Cummings (26) one point ahead of second placed Pat Ayshford (22) and Pauline Willis (29).

Main Club

Last Sunday the main club competed in the three clubs and a putter challenge.

The winner with 37 points was Paul Coward, second with 35 points was Gerry Binmore and in third place Jason Green with 34 points.

HEMYOCK BOWLING CLUB

A GOOD start to the new season with an attendance of more than 40 members at the opening of the green at Hemyock Bowling Club last Saturday, April 16th.

The occasion was also the opening of the new extension to the clubhouse and the official ceremony was performed by David Wells of Uffculme Environmental Ltd who distributes around £300,000 per year to local community projects.

This money is allocated to them from Viridor landfill tax credits.

He was welcomed by club president Gill Chown who said that the extension would not have been possible without the generous grant of £21,000 given by his company.

The remaining monies were provided by interest free loans from members. Plans were drawn up by member Tony Vaughan, and the work was done by local builders D W Hart and sons, with club member Chris Clark as project manager.

Thanks were extended to all other club members who had helped in any way during the build process and fitting out.

The clubhouse now has improved changing rooms with the addition of disabled toilet facility, added length to the main social area and an enlarged and upgraded kitchen.

Mr Wells presented the club with a plaque to mark the occasion.

The president remarked on the look and quality of the green, and thanked greenkeeper Martin Dear and his team who put in such a lot of work all year round to provide a really good bowling surface.

The days play started with the usual 'spider' competition where players spread out around the green and bowl to a Jack in the centre.

There is a lot of collision of bowls and the result is pure luck, but a bit of fun none the less. Everyone then enjoyed an afternoon of competitive bowling on a green which was running very well due to all the dry weather that we have had recently.

Finally we all enjoyed the usual splendid 'bring and share' tea.

The club always welcomes new members and to encourage people to come and have a go at the open day which is being held on Saturday, May 7th from 11am to 4pm.

This is an ideal opportunity for anyone, men, women and juniors, to come along and have a go with friendly club members on hand for guidance.

For this day no special clothing is needed, only a pair of soft, flat soled shoes. The club is very easy to find, near the village hall.

Greenkeeper calls time with a drink

HONITON Bowling Club has had an extremely busy weekend with the retiring, after 50 years, of its green ranger.

The club presented Allan Nex and his wife, Chris, with a bottle of Scotch as a thanks for his hard work over the past 50 years.

The presentation marked the end of the indoor season and beginning of the new outdoor season.

Doug Hirons, president of Honiton Bowling Club, let fly with the first bowl of the season.

Aged over 90 he still managed to get the bowl very close to the jack.

EAST DEVON PETANQUE CLUB

THE game of Petanque, or Boules as it is often called, is set to take off in east Devon with the formation of a new club, and the construction of a new terrain within the next few weeks.

East Devon Petanque Club is in the process of being formed and a new, full sized, terrain will be built near Sidmouth with easy access from all parts of east Devon. The club will be open to everyone interested in the French variation of bowls, which many people play on holiday but seldom have the chance to play on returning home.

"We are calling for everyone who may be interested in playing to get in touch as soon as possible" a spokesperson for the club said.

He continued: "We are sure that there is a demand for a facility such as this and we would like to hear from anyone who would like to be involved.

"People do not need to be serious players of the game, we welcome anyone who wants to play."

There will be a meeting of all interested people in the first week of May and the club plans to hold its first open session by the beginning of June. If you are interested in finding out more call 07952 645319 or email eastdevonpetanque@hotmail.co.uk.

AXMOUTH UNITED FC

AXMOUTH United kept up their bid for promotion with a 3-0 home win against visiting fourth placed Clyst Valley, despite being without several players and having a bare 12 available.

In a tight opening spell the homeside were strangely sluggish and lacking a half yard of pace as the visitors appeared to be up for the challenge and prospect of the double over their opponents having just shaded a 2-1 home win at the turn of the year.

Pressing Axmouth back Clyst won a succession of corners but the home side stood firm until the 37th minute when Jake Dack was called upon to make a superb clearance off the line. The home side too had an effort cleared from the line with a hint of handball but nothing was given as it ended goal less at half time.

As with the previous week manager Laurie Forino urged his team to up the ante and take control. The team responded with a dominant second half display starting with a fine move involving the excellent Charlie Clarke seeking out Asa Sandman wide on the right.

Sandman sent a perfect cross for Stuart Aykroyd to meet with a bullet header into the top corner.

As they took control Christian Burridge was unlucky not to make it two as his long range effort was well saved and tipped onto the bar and shortly after his next effort was cleared off the line.

Not to be denied in the 78th minute Burridge was played in by Clarke to fire home across the keeper and give Axmouth the cushion they deserved. Just a minute later Jamie Hughes made it three from a well rehearsed free kick. Clarke was the provider as Hughes hit a screamer into the top corner.

There was still time for another Burridge effort needing a save and a Jake Dack effort again well saved by the visiting keeper who had a fine game but could do nothing about the three goals.

An excellent second half performance with some real quality on display none more so than from man of the match Glenn Gould who just shaded Clarke amongst a number of others giving excellent displays.

SEATON TOWN FC

Devon & Exeter League
Seaton A 4
Feniton 2

SEATON worked hard with a good performance all round and excellent passing and brilliant defending.

Ricky Littley scored first for the A team with a magnificent header from a corner ball. Oliver Browne battled hard and scored the second.

The scoreline at half time was 2-0. Changing ends at half time proved challenging and within the first moments of the half Feniton scored.

Ehron Keast and Thomas Bush played fabulously in defence with great goal kicks to get the ball up front.

Lewis Franklin scored the third for the As with Oliver Browne making the score 4-1.

Feniton came back to score a second but the game was at an end. Ehron Keast was man of the match for Seaton.

This means Seaton As have now qualified for both cup finals which will be played in May.

The last league game for Seaton, next Sunday, is against Lyme Regis.

PERRY STREET LEAGUE ROUND-UP

PRESSURE ON FOR BILL BAILEY FINAL

By KEVIN FAHEY
sport.pulmans@tindlenews.co.uk

MISTERTON Reserves warmed up for Thursday night's Bill Bailey Cup final at the Memorial Playing Ground against Crewkerne Town Reserves with an 8-2 victory over Farway United Reserves.

The clubs are currently the top two in Division Three with Crewkerne holding the lead by two points — but Misterton have two games in hand as the season reaches its climax.

"We are keeping up the pressure in the league and will go into Thursday's final very confident after Saturday's win," said Misterton boss Adge Diment.

"But I'm sure it will be a tight game as there isn't much between the two sides."

A first-half hat-trick from Colin Fletcher plus goals from Rick Smith and Neil Hawkins put Misterton in command at half time with Fletcher adding another two after the break while both Smith and Hawkins also scored again.

The finalists for the Daisy Hutchings Cup were also confirmed on Saturday with South Petherton Reserves beating Shepton Beauchamp on penalties after the semi final ended deadlocked at 1-1 after extra time.

South Petherton will face Division Two leaders Beaminster Reserves in the final on May 12th and Petherton boss Barry Kench will be hoping Barry Male can continue his outstanding form.

Male was the man-of-the-match for the winners as he made three vital penalty saves, the first in the second period of extra time and then two more vital blocks in the shoot-out.

"Andrew is a big lad with a lot of presence and he was terrific," said Kench.

Shepton Beauchamp were gifted the lead with a Sam Coombes own goal but James Connett's 80th minute equaliser ensured extra time. Male then made the first of his vital saves and then denied Shepton's first two penalty takers while South Petherton's quartet of Owen Jarry, Ben Coombes, Matt Gold and Dan Rogers all coolly converted.

"It was a great win and was sweet revenge for losing against Shepton Beauchamp in the Jack Venn semi finals," added Kench.

In Division One Sam Dibling scored twice and there were further goals for Adam Whitehouse, Matt Hall, John Vaughan and player-manager Shane Featherstone in Millwey Rise's 6-1 win at Norton Athletic.

Crewkerne Town still top the table after a 5-2 win at Ilminster Colts with in-form Jamie Spurdle scoring twice. Barry Hayne, Aaron Sweet and Harry Charles also scored.

Struggling Charmouth earned an impressive 3-3 draw at Netherbury with two goals from Dan Rumsby and a third from Phil Morris.

South Petherton manager Gordon Childs missed his side's 9-1 thrashing of Barrington that keeps them top of the Premier Division for the good reason that he was in London preparing himself for the marathon, which he covered in just over 3hrs 28mins 45secs to finish 3,781st.

"I was aiming for 3:15 but it is still a personal best for me," said Childs.

A hat-trick from John Hayter, two from Rich Hebditch and further strikes from Paul Holt, Jason Behan, Lee Richards and Dean Ritchie completed the scoring.

OFFWELL FC

Devon & Exeter League
Bampton 0
Offwell Rangers 2

AFTER Offwell played last Monday and won 2-0 away from home to Exmouth Amateurs the lads came to Bampton full of confidence.

A corner kick that went straight in from Lewis Couch gave Offwell the lead 15 minutes into the game. Offwell dominated the first half and could have had a couple more goals before half time but on the stroke of half time Offwell saw one of their players see a straight red card which was a big blow to the side.

The second half was tiring for the Yellows as they battled hard and got their reward when Couch pounced onto a mistake from the Bampton keeper which allowed him to net his second of the game and put Offwell 2-0 and they saw this scoreline out to the end.

A great team effort but man of the match for Offwell was Andrew Lord who looked solid at the back.

OTTERY ST MARY FC

Carlsberg South West Peninsula League Division One East
Teignmouth 2
Ottery St Mary 3

DANE Bunney's side enjoyed one of their best wins of the season as they dented the home side's bid to finish runner-up in the league.

Teignmouth started clear favourites after six successive victories but they couldn't contain the Otters' in-form striker Braide Cole.

Cole scored twice and there was a Chris Ibbeson penalty as Bunney's team bounced back in style from recent bad defeats against Alphington and Exeter Civil Service.

While Cole was the man-of-the-match Ottery goalkeeper Tony Ali also deserves praise for a superb save in the closing minutes when he tipped Adam Hill's shot onto the crossbar.

AXMINSTER TOWN FC

Carlsberg South West Peninsula League Division One East
Alphington 1
Axminster Town 0

Axminster Town will be glad to see the back of this season as they slipped to another defeat which keeps them rooted to the bottom of the table where sadly they have spent most of the season.

The only goal of an unremarkable game came in the 20th minute when Kenny Smith fired the home side into the lead from close range.

Tigers goalkeeper Chris Higgs made a couple of good saves to keep the visitors in the game but they rarely threatened the Alphington goal.

UPLYME MUST FIGHT FOR CUP

No coasting, warns manager - despite victory

By KEVIN FAHEY

Perry Street League Division Two
Hawkchurch United 3
Uplyme 5

UPLYME manager Rob Coombe has warned all his players that they are fighting for a place in the side for the Tommy Tabberer Cup final against Shepton Beauchamp next month.

Saturday's win virtually guaranteed survival in Division Two but if the players think they can now coast the final games of the season then they are mistaken.

"Everyone is fighting for a place in the final," said Coombe.

"I have a big squad of 15/16 players and they are all definitely in contention for a starting place so they have a lot to prove between now and the final on May 13th.

"At the moment I'm not sure who I am going to pick as everyone is playing well. That is a very nice problem for me to have because at this stage of the season a lot of clubs struggle to get out a team but the squad is holding up well and everyone wants to play in the final, especially as it is being held at Lyme Regis' ground and we will get a lot of support."

Coombe believes that Saturday's scoreline didn't reflect their control of the game as goals from Adrian Strawbridge, the impressive Adam Neale and Stuart King saw Uplyme race into a 3-0 lead at half-time.

Hawkchurch hit back shortly after the break but King restored the three-goal advantage with his second after a great through ball from John Davies.

A Gavin Fowler penalty completed Uplyme's scoring before some sloppy defending cost the visitors another two goals.

"I'm pretty sure we are safe in the league now but I want to finish the season well leading up to the cup final," added Coombe.
